Stop searching through paper. Using one coordinated system that's usually already installed on your computer (if not, the purchase price is less than $200), this organizational tool enables you to:

- Easily retrieve all information on a person when that person returns your call because it keeps together the name, address, phone, history, and notes for each of your contacts in one searchable database.
- Define the type of relationship that you have with that individual.
- Receive and process your emails from all different sources to one location on your computer.
- Keep notes of important information for each contact at your fingertips.
- Keep a history of all interactions with each contact...also at your fingertips.
- Maintain a schedule for all phone calls and appointments.
- Set reminders for all scheduled calls and appointments.
- See the status of all your contacts in an easy to comprehend color coded single view.

Cost: $150.00—includes a free assessment of your current related system before purchase.
